Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 41 and 43 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cohen-5078603 in view of Perry, et al.-5015184.

Cohen discloses a tube 11 with an inclined opening 12 at its distal end. However the grate is not disclosed. Perry discloses a grate for covering the distal end of a tube. It would have been obvious to have placed or formed the grate of Perry on the distal end of a tube such as that disclosed by Cohen, as this would prevent tissue from entering and clogging the distal port or opening.

Alternatively, it also would have been obvious to have cut the end of the tube 12 disclosed by Perry at an incline, as taught by Cohen, as this provides a larger open area for material or fluids to be aspirated into the tube's distal end without clogging the end.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 10-28-2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

It is not imperative for the reference to state that it is configured so that as a patient's epiglottis is engaged by the grate during insertion of the distal end into the hypopharynx, the epiglottis slides along the grate and into abutment with an anterior portion of the elongate tubular member. This language is entirely functional (intended use) in nature. It is irrelevant whether the prior art is disclosed as actually being used such that it engages the epiglottis. A recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. In a claim drawn to a process of making, the intended use must result in a manipulative difference as compared to the prior art. See In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963).

The examiner contends that the structure achieved once the combination is made is one in which "if" the device were placed into the throat, and "if" the grate were placed against the epiglottis, the epiglottis would be able to slide along the grate into abutment with a portion of the tube which is anterior of the distal end. Dental suction tubes are clearly of a size and shape which could be placed in the claimed orientation and if pressed against the epiglottis, the epiglottis would be able to slide over the grate and into contact with an anterior portion of the tube behind the suction head or tip. This is all that is necessary to meet the claim limitations.

Interference

An interference cannot be initiated since a prerequisite for interference under 37 CFR 1.606 is that the claims be patentable to the applicant subject to a judgment in the interference.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 21,22,24-30,32-40 are allowed.

Claims 42 and 44 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
